The last dance of the season held at the Richmond Hotel took place there on Saturday evening at 9:30 o'clock. The ballroom was decorated very attractively in palms and spring flowers, and the tables were crowded with guests for the occasion. The dancings at the Richmond Hotel this season have been among the most interesting affairs of the past several months, and the special dancing of the prominent artists brought from New York for the amusement of those in attendance upon these events has been one of the most attractive features of each entertainment.
